KazTransOil ensures timely rerouting of a portion of crude export flows from CPC

Thanks to a timely and constructive negotiation process with international partners and shippers, KazTransOil has secured agreements enabling the rerouting of international crude oil flows from the Caspian Pipeline Consortium system toward the Samara and BTC directions, as well as the redirection of part of the volumes to China.

As a result, the increase in crude deliveries via export routes in December 2025, compared with the initial transportation schedule approved by the Ministry of Energy of the Republic of Kazakhstan, amounts to:

- Atyrau–Samara: +232 thousand tons
- China: +72 thousand tons
- Port of Aktau (Baku–Tbilisi–Ceyhan direction): +58 thousand tons.

Additionally, throughout December 2025, KazTransOil will provide oil-producing companies with the option of temporary crude storage in its tank farm facilities. This measure ensures greater flexibility in loading schedules, enables optimization of pumping modes, and supports uninterrupted flows through the main oil pipeline system.
